chest. is a post-punk/noise rock band from Paris formed by five friends who offer their vision of the music scene they love the most, and who are influenced by all the artists they meet at the Supersonic Club in Bastille, Paris. United by their love of loud effects, noises and decibels, without sacrificing catchy melodies and choruses, their live performances are big cathartic parties where everyone is invited to dance, mosh and sing. Their first EP All Good Things End came out in February 2025.

daoud

22:20 - 23:00

THURSDAY, JAN. 15
Minerva Praediniussingel

The problem child of French jazz, daoud, is widely regarded as a torch bearer of the new jazz scene. Inspirations from hip-hop, Italian house and modern jazz mold together to create a rich, groove infused tapestry of sounds. The French-Moroccan trumpeter fuels his compositions with absurdism and a little bit of inadequacy always looking for new ways to annoy purists. With his second album ok, August 2025, he delivers a personal manifesto shaped by collapse and repetition.

Behind the name DITTER lies a trio, but above all, music that strikes as much at the body as it does at the heart. They offer lively, organic music full of hymns, with a love for pop, a hint of punk, combined with a touch of cynicism, and a good sense of humour. These French brats are here to burn up the stage, their favourite form of self-expression. DITTER has been nominated for the Music Moves Europe (MME) Awards, the EU prize for emerging European artists. Winners will be revealed at the award ceremony on 15 January, 2026 at ESNS.

Drawing upon her professional experience as a translator of art history texts, Hibberd searches for slippages, where French and English words rub up against each other in uncanny ways. Strange poetry appears in these moments, giving rare glimpses of life's hidden threads, and illuminating our understanding. Swirl came out on 17 January 2025 on 22Twenty.

SERVO's sound finds an unstable home between heavy, droning psych-rock and gothic post-punk; forlorn, jangling guitars and deep, austere vocals breaking down into piercing blasts of feedback and distortion. The band have spent the last few years bringing their intense live show to growing audiences around mainland Europe and the UK.
